RESCUED THREE WOMEN.

Horace Beebe, a New London Musician, Did Heroic Work in Niantic River.

The Misses Lillian and Myra Sauter and Ella Williams owe their lives to Horace Beebe, a New London musician, who rescued them from the waters of the Niantic river near Turkey Point Sunday afternoon. The young women were bathing in the river when they stepped into a deep channel. One of them could swim. Beebe, who heard their cries, plunged into the water, without removing his clothes.
He succeeded in getting Miss Lillian Sauter and Miss Ella Williams out of the water, and then he turned his attention to the third woman, who was nearly drowned in the endeavor to rescue Miss Myra Sauter. She was going down for the last time when he managed to catch her. She grabbed him by the neck and it required a desperate effort to bring her to shore in safety. She was unconscious for more than an hour after the accident.

NORWICH M. N. ON.

Frank J. King at State Highways Convention at Bridgeport

Says Roads Are Miserable Here and Sees Little Encouragement—Connecticut Loses $200,000 a Year From Poor Roads.

Delegates from various business bodies in the state and citizens interested in better trunk highways gathered at Bridgeport Monday with the object of securing united action for lasting pavements, but adjournment was taken without any definite action being taken, because those present were not delegates with any authority from the bodies they represented. Frank J.
King, representing the Norwich board of trade, made one of the strongest presentations of present conditions.

A rolling vote was taken, however, approving of the idea of endeavoring to secure the very best possible trunk highways across the state, and bettering road conditions in general. The following committee was named to call a meeting within two weeks, to effect permanent organization: George M.
Eames, Bridgeport; Charles M. Robinson, New Haven; J. M. Emerson, Ansonia; and F. T. Staples, Bridgeport.

At a meeting of the automobile association, the Connecticut Automobile association, the gathering was called to order by President Staples, who said that
at a meeting of the automobile association discussion had arisen over the condition of the state highways.

Mr. Eames of Bridgeport, who was chosen temporary chairman, said that the breadth and scope of the movement is so great that not only individuals but business interests must be getting together so that when the good roads men go to the legislature to ask for money to build trunk lines with permanent pavement they will have such power behind them that they will get what they want. He said that the advocates of good roads should be so bravely in what they demand that those in control of the trunk highways will see the force of the argument and the need of permanent pavement for these highways. He said that Connecticut every week was losing more than the interest on a bond issue which would build permanent roads. He said that if the interest on a bond issue for good roads was $100,000 a year, the state is losing more than that every week, because tourists are not coming into the state.

F. J. King of Norwich said that Norwich is suffering from miserable roads and there is not much encouragement of getting improvement. It ought to be insisted that next fall every candidate for the legislature should be asked if he favored good roads and if candidate of political party did then the choice could be made on party lines.
Mr. Eames of Bridgeport, who was

Strongin's Colleagues and Had a Generally Delightful Time.
